CUSTOMS

Due to companies' high interest in obtaining the list of entities which have obtained the AEO (Authorized Economic Operator) status, and the desire of the EU Customs Authorities to increase the number of AEO applicants, the European Commission has provided an electronic data base of entities registered under the AEO program, available at the following address:

http://ec.europa.eu/taxation_customs/dds/aeohome_en.htm .

The AEO certificate grants its owner several benefits, especially in relation to the Customs Authorities in EU Member States.

Also, the AEO concept is now recognized by the US Customs and Border Protection, and companies holding this certificate are considered a safe trading partner by both the Customs Authorities and potential and existing business partners.

KPMG consultants can provide assistance in obtaining the AEO certificate and the benefits granted by this document.
